Introduction

This book examines the story of Colloidal Silver. Colloidal silver first came to my attention at national health conventions in the early 90's, but vendors there were charging $80 for a small 4oz bottle and I wasn't going to pay that kind of money for something that I knew very little about. I became more interested, however, in 1994 when I was fortunate enough to attend a free lecture by physicist/inventor, Dr Bob Beck. Bob not only explained the many health benefits of colloidal silver, but also gave instructions on how to make it yourself at home!

My interest in colloidal silver was further developed by the many stimulating and rewarding conversations that I've enjoyed with a remarkable scientist by the name of Merlin D. Wolf. Merlin never depends on the pontifications of others for scientific fact. You can always find him in his lab testing the 'facts' for himself. His stubborn curiosity has borne much fruit by illuminating many dark corners in the mysterious world of colloidal silver. I am indebted to both Merlin Wolf and Bob Beck for their generosity in freely sharing their insights and discoveries.

These articles will explain to you exactly what colloidal silver is and what it can do for you or for other living things that you might care about-such as pets and plants. I've tried to isolate the original author's work rather than the many plagiarists that abound on this subject. I'm particularly impressed by the honesty of Peter Lindemann's article, Colloidal Silver, A Closer Look. You can learn how to assemble a generator and make colloidal silver yourself by reading section 21-32 (a ready-made generator & silver electrodes are available from Educate-Yourself)

In Volume II, along with those who sing the praises of colloidal silver, I've included a section from its detractors and debunkers. I entitled it the Critics Corner. These authors have a hidden agenda: they wish to frighten the public. Why?...Because the ability of alternative, natural therapies, such as colloidal silver, to clear up most infective organisms and disease conditions, if widely known, would represent a loss of billions in revenues to pharmaceuticals and orthodox medicine. I also wanted to demonstrate to the reader the subtle subterfuge and misinformation techniques utilized by debunkers and skeptics of alternative therapies in general. In my opinion, they are not the guardians of enlightened-scientific-truth that they attempt to impress upon their readership, but rather they are disinformation agents toiling on behalf of pharmaceutical and established-medicine interests.

Currently, debunkers are trying to scare people into thinking that they will become victims of Argyria, a condition that turns the skin a Blue/Grey color. If you read their statements carefully, however, you will notice that all of their accusations about Argyria refer to individuals (such as Rosemary Jacobs) who had used colloidal silver (CSP). Those initials, "CSP", are extremely important. They stand for Colloidal Silver Protein. Colloidal silver protein is not the same thing as colloidal silver. Colloidal silver proteins are compounds that have silver molecularly-bound to the protein matrix. Colloidal silver, on the other hand, is simply a colloid suspension of pure silver atoms, nothing more. So, here we have the pharmaceutical industry trying to orchestrate a scare campaign against the use of colloidal silver, when the only evidence of damage (Argyria) was caused by silver compounds manufactured and sold exclusively by the pharmaceutical industry!

Wishing you good health naturally, K. Adachi
